

Character Sheet: Lena Jensen

Case

Location:

Kiel, a small coastal town famous for its naval history and boat-building traditions

Victim Name:

Erik von Hagen

Summary:

During the annual Kiel Week celebration, Erik von Hagen was found dead during dinner aboard his yacht. The Red Berry Pudding served at the meal is believed to have contained a toxic substance, linking the murder to corruption in the maritime industry where he had long-standing conflicts.

Timeline:

The crime took place around midnight on the evening of August 12th, as guests were finishing their dessert during the Kiel Week celebration dinner.

Victim Description:

42, marine engineer, known for his controversial views on shipbuilding standards

Character Details

Name:

Lena Jensen

Appearance:

A young woman with long hair tied back, wearing a casual dress.

Occupation:

Waitress

Relation To Victim:

Employee

Personality Traits:

- friendly - supportive

Background:

The waitress serving at the dinner party where Erik was poisoned. She noticed strange behavior from one of the guests before the incident. [doc2]

Murderer Label:

No

Image Path:

image_tool/image_output\Lena_Jensen.png