Case

Location:

Kiel, a small coastal town where the annual 'Seabird Gala' dinner hosts political elites and activists, now marred by scandal

Victim Name:

Elena Voss

Summary:

Elena Voss was found dead at the Seabird Gala dinner, stabbed during the Coq au Vin course, her final words reportedly about the 'data leak' she was preparing to release. The menu's smoked fish starter subtly mirrors the town's hidden financial ties, while the dessert's sweet red berries hint at the poisoned trust among attendees.

Timeline:

The murder occurred around 8:15 PM, during the main course, as guests debated the town's offshore funds. The killer likely slipped into the room unnoticed, using the distraction of the wine's warmth to strike. The killer's presence was later discovered in the dessert room, where no one had been before the meal ended.
